Welcome to Our First RPTS Weekly Academic Advising Newsletter

You may be asking why are we starting a weekly newsletter about all things RPTS academic advising. Well, the answer is, we want to reduce the number of emails you receive from us. Instead of sending you multiple emails each week, we will do our best to combine all important information for that week into this one weekly newsletter. Fair warning, if there is something very important to send out, prior to the next weekly newsletter, we will email you.

Expect our weekly newsletter each Tuesday.
